INDORSING W. L. SMITH

The County Wants Him To Be National Delegate.

MANY LETTERS ROLL THIS WAY

Not One But What Shows the Sincerity of Columbiana in its Friendship For the Great Protectionist—A Great Big Boost For Mr. Smith.

If Columbiana county is to have her way, W. L. Smith, chairman of the county committee and one of the most prominent Republicans in Eastern Ohio, will have a nice, comfortable seat in the national convention at St. Louis.

Mr. Smith has so long been an active Republican and has so often taken off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and gone to work for the cause, that his friends believe he should be honored by the position of delegate. Mr. Smith has seldom held office, probably because he never cared to, and now those who know him best are determined that his faithful service in the party will be rewarded by giving him an opportunity to vote for his firm friend, William McKinley.

The Eighteenth congressional district will have two representatives in the convention. Mahoning county will probably want one of them and Stark may decide to have a candidate; but Columbiana already has its mind made up, and Mr. Smith is the choice of the people. When the NEWS REVIEW announced some months ago that Mr. Smith's friends were anxious to have him take the place, the news spread rapidly, and letters began to pour in from all parts of the county. To the present over 100 have been received in this city, and they one and all enthusiastically endorse Mr. Smith for the honor. One other feature of these letters is the McKinley sentiment openly expressed. With the writers the governor seems to be in such a splendid position at the head of the list of presidential candidates that they have no second choice. He is first, last and forever with all of them, and that in a measure accounts for the popularity of Mr. Smith. He has long been a close personal friend of Mr. McKinley. For years he has known him, and for years he has bent his every effort political in the direction of the governor. He has always been one of his warmest advocates, and has occupied a high position among the friends of the great statesman. Columbiana county has always been noted for its fidelity to the governor, and never has it been found wanting when placed in the balance. If Major McKinley ever wanted friends, he knew they were to be found among the hills and in the towns of Columbiana. The position of the county and the position of Mr. Smith are identical when Mr. McKinley is concerned, and to that can be laid much of the enthusiasm with which the popular chairman's candidacy is marked. Several townships have already passed resolutions endorsing Mr. Smith for the place, in fact every township where a meeting has been held, and the others will do it when the committeemen get together. The endorsements have been hearty and flattering in the extreme, and come with such force that there is not the slightest doubt of where Mr. Smith stands in relation to them. He will get the unqualified indorsement of the county and every vote cast at the congressional convention from Columbiana will be in his favor. The city is for him, and Wellsville has already decided that way, while leading Republicans in every other town and township have openly expressed themselves on the same line. They want Mr. Smith to help nominate William McKinley at St. Louis.

It will not be long until townships in the county will begin to select delegates for the congressional convention. Caucuses will be held and these delegates will be chosen for places on the ticket. Then they will be voted on at the primaries, March 28. It is expected the convention will be called soon after that date and the national delegates chosen without delay. The exact time and place for the convention have not been decided, but it will of necessity soon be settled.

A QUIET WEEK.

Not Many Goods Moving in New York City.

A trade paper's New York correspondent puts the situation in these words:

"This week has been a quiet one in the district and few buyers were in evidence. Local buyers have busied themselves with searching out small lots in broken lines with which to brighten and replenish their stocks; and they have found some good bargains among the importers and jobbers who have completed stock taking and require space for the new goods daily arriving. There has been a very general indisposition to order largely of fancy goods and the buying has been mostly in the line of staples. Collections are fair and a hopeful feeling pervades the market. But little was expected here until the convening of the jobbers' convention. The January lull in business is a blessing to the wholesaler, permitting him to give time to stock taking, receiving and placing new goods and the making of needed changes and repairs, preparatory to the coming rush of business, his whole attention. With few exceptions the work of preparing for the season is at an end and dealers are ready to accord to buyers a hearty reception."

MORE CANDIDATES.

The City List Has Not Yet Been Completed.

It is rumored in the First ward that George Matheny will be a candidate for council on the Republican ticket. Mr. Matheny has many friends, and would undoubtedly get a good vote at the primaries.

Squire Rose today announces himself for council in the Second ward, and his friends see victory in the air for him. The conviction is growing that a position in council will be an important one before the year is over, and good men are being put forward for the vacancies. The squire has a strong following in his ward.

The waterworks trustee whose term expires this year is Mr. Kerr, and his friends have not heard whether he will be a candidate for re-election. There will be Republicans after the place, and the first name to be formally announced is Jacob Schenkle, of the Globe pottery. The gentleman's success as a business man will work well in his favor.

The last candidates to appear for the Republican primaries are the assessors, and some of those who served last year will be after their old places.

George Ashbaugh was very much amused at the silly statement of a local paper last night that he had formed some combination with Doctor Marshall to control council, and said: "That's nonsense. I don't know Doctor Marshall. I have seen him, but never spoke to him in my life. The idea of me being in a ring is funny."

MADE MONEY.

The Young Woman's Supper Was Very Successful.

The Young Women's society, of the First Presbyterian church, gave a decidedly successful supper last evening, many persons being present. The program was exceptionally amusing, especially the spelling school. Dinner was also served at the church today, and was well patronized.

The Heptasophs installed their officers last night, and instead of having their banquet in the lodge room, went to the church, where they were well taken care of. There were 13 at the table, but the unlucky number had no more effect on the jolly crowd than to cause a few to think of a little extra insurance.

HIS FIRST TRIP.

A Farmer Had a Ride on the Street Car Line.

Passengers in a street car were much amused yesterday by the actions of an old man who was passing through a unique experience. He had often read of the electric cars and had seen them at a distance, but he had never before made so bold as to take a ride. He was greatly pleased with the rate of speed, and expressed his wonder at the doings of electricity in general and the way it was applied to travel in particular. He asked many questions and seemed satisfied with the trip, confidentially telling the man next to him that he would have another ride soon.

COLLIDED WITH A FENCE.

Mr. Roob Lost His Way on the Calcutta Road.

Traveling on the Calcutta road is is by no means a pleasant diversion, and occasionally people wander from what should be the beaten path and lose their way. A Mr. Roob had an experience of this kind, and he almost broke his nose as one of the results. He was hastening on his way, as he thought, in the right direction, when he collided with a high board fence. His nose got the full effect of the shock, and bled profusely. It was so dark he could not see the fence.

Killed in Pittsburg.

Edward Wyllie, who was run down and killed in Pittsburg yesterday, was well known in this city. He was the brother-in-law of Walter Lloyd, formerly a resident of this place. The remains were taken to New Cumberland last night and interred today.

HE ASKED QUESTIONS

Superintendent Sanor Submitted a Long List.

TEACHERS ARE TO ANSWER

He Wants to Know Whether They Read the Bible in Their Rooms—Every Phase of the Question Covered by Many Questions—Individual Answers Wanted.

Superintendent Sanor has given the Bible in the schools matter another turn by a list of questions calculated to draw from each teacher just what she has been and is doing on this line.

The lists were presented to the teachers yesterday afternoon, and the teachers were asked to answer without consulting anyone, full and frankly. The first wanted to know if the Bible was read as an opening exercise, and if the teacher had ever done so since being employed here. The date of when it was commenced is asked, and if read and then "the practice ceased" comes next. "Did or do you read it without comment?" is the next question, and information is desired regarding the attention given by the children. The teacher is asked how she knows they undestand it, and is required to give chapters or parts of the Bible that have been read. The reason for reading it, if they do, and the reason for not reading it, if not, is asked, and the superintendent wants to know if the Bible is ever used as a reference book in the history and literature, and if the teacher has many occasions to refer to it for that purpose. They are asked to tell if they encourage pupils to memorize gems from the Bible as from all literature, and what psalms or other selections they have committed as literature. What Bible stories have been read in school to the children is another question, and what Bible stories have the pupils read in regular or supplementary readers is another. Then comes the most important question of the lot. "What, in brief, do you understand to be the position of the board of education on this question?" is the way it is put, and it is followed by, "Are your regular and supplementary books permeated with essential religious truths—i. e., the relation of man to his creator and his fellow man."

That ends the list, and those who read it cannot but see that an answer to each question will bring all the information that could well be gathered on the subject. Superintendent Sanor was seen by a NEWS REVIEW reporter today, and did not seem inclined to discuss the matter at great length. He said that he presented the questions to the teachers for his own private information. Different parties have frequently asked him questions, and he could not answer them because he did not at that moment possess the knowledge. If the board asks him for light on the question now in hand, he will then be able to give it. He wants to know what the teachers have been doing on this line.

KICKED THE SWINDLER.

A Wellsville Woman Made Herself the Law.

A slick swindler has been working Wellsville for several days, and yesterday was punished. He went into a house and sold the woman a fluid that was guaranteed to remove stains, and gave her the exclusive right of selling it in East Liverpool and Wellsville. She thought she had a good thing, and a few hours later went to the house of a friend to make a sale. She was surprised at finding the agent there going through the story he had told her, and being a vigorous woman, she made it warm for him. She kicked him several times, and finally drove him from the town.

DOCTORS IN SESSION.

They Talked Business at the Quarterly Meeting.

Doctor Hobbs is home from Alliance, where he attended the quarterly meeting of the Union Medical association. Mahoning, Stark, Columbiana and Carroll counties are included in the society, and representatives from each were present, the whole number being 75. A number of valuable papers were read, and the visitors were entertained at dinner by the Alliance physicians. The next meeting will be held on the first Thursday in May at Salem. The attendance at the meeting yesterday was unusually large.

CUT OFF THE FOOT.

Miss Bertie Mautz Suffered a Great Misfortune.

Miss Bertie Mautz, a young woman residing in the lower part of the city, has been suffering for 10 weeks from a disease of the bone, one of her ankles being affected. Physicians have constantly been in attendance, and every effort was made to save the foot, but it could not be done. Yesterday afternoon Doctor Andrews, Doctor Marshall and Doctor Taylor were called in and performed the operation of amputating the foot. It was taken off at the ankle, and the sufferer is doing very well today.

ALL NONSENSE.

There Was no Strike at the Sebring Pottery.

The sensational statement in a local paper last night that there was trouble at Sebring's, brought forth many a smile from people who know the facts.

A toilet set was handed over to the gold banders for decoration because the proper workman was not working that day. They liked the work and demanded that all sets of that kind be given them. The company refused, as it was not in their class, and those who did not like working for the concern were invited to quit. Three availed themselves of the opportunity, and their places were filled at once.

DON'T WANT IT.

Charles Reark Not After Political Position.

The first man to kick out of the traces made by Trades council is Charles Reark, who does not want to be the candidate for council from the Third ward. He says that he will not be on the ticket.

Another candidate who doesn't want office is T. C. McConnell, of the Fourth ward. He was nominated for assessor, but is compelled to give it up because he cannot devote his time to making the race. He believes candidates should work hard for place, and if they cannot do this to retire in favor of those who can.

BELIEVES IN THE BILL.

Councilman Stewart Wants Salaries For Officials.

Councilman Stewart is still a firm believer in his bill providing for salaries and not commissions for city officials. To a reporter he said:

"I think the finance committee can convince council of the importance of the measure. When they investigate they will see the economy and the good government of the plan, and I think will find it advisable to adopt it. Other plans have been tried in towns of this size, but as far as I have been able to discover there have been none as satisfactory as the salary system."

A special meeting of finance committee has been called for this evening when the measure will be discussed, and a report for the consideration of council will be decided upon.

A BIG DEPARTMENT STORE.

They Say it Will be Built in Town Very Soon.

There is a rumor that can not be traced to a source that will acknowledge anything, but it is nevertheless taken as truth by some who have heard it. As the story goes a Pittsburg man with two men from Youngstown are endeavoring to purchase a site up town with the view of building upon it a fine block. The building will be occupied by the Youngstown people, and they are anxious to have it up before September. Several attempts, it is said, have been made to buy Sixth street property.

NO FLOOD.

The River is Rising But There is no Danger.

The river continues to rise slowly, but there is little danger of a big flood. Rivermen who have passed through many a stage of high water say there is no fear of the river going beyond its banks, and it will not cause any trouble. The water raised two feet and swept by the city in a great, muddy flood. No apprehension was felt by people living on the river front, though many realized that the water would cause considerable damage if the stream went on a rampage.

A WASHINGTON CELEBRATION.

The Red Men Will Observe the Holiday.

Washington's Birthday will be celebrated in this city, and several organizations are now preparing for the event. The Red Men will have an unusually pleasant time, and their program includes a musical and literary entertainment and a banquet. There will be visitors from a distance. A tea party will be given on the same evening at Brunt's, and other societies will have special services.

Will Have a Concert.

The Sons of America are arranging for a concert to be held on Feb. 22. The organization will devote the proceeds to some charitable cause.

GOING TO ST. LOUIS

The McKinley Club Have Ordered Sleepers.

BERTHS ARE NOW ON SALE

They Are Being Taken Up, and the Trip Already Seems a Success—Four Pullmans Will Make Up the Train—Decided on the Banquet.

The trip of the McKinley club to St. Louis is assured, and the charts of the sleeping cars were placed on sale today.

At the meeting of the club last night the question of the trip was settled, and Will L. Taylor and Charles M. Dix were appointed a sub-committee to look after the arrangements. A telegram was at once sent to the passenger agent in Pittsburg, and the charts of the four cars were placed on sale at the store of Rose and Dix, on Sixth street. The man who intends to make the journey pays $5 guarantee for the berth, which he can occupy while he is away from home. The rate of fare has not yet been given out by the traffic association, but the committee have the assurance that the whole expense for fare and berth will not be more than $22.50, and perhaps it will be less. On the other hand, the probability is that it will be lower than that amount. When the price of a berth is paid a receipt is given. The books are open, and a number of enthusiastic ones were after good places and got them. The berths are not being reserved, and the man who goes early is the one who gets a good thing. If the four sleepers are soon taken, and there are others who want to go, the committee can get others. The cars will be given good track room in the big station at St. Louis, and Liverpool people will sleep in them while they are away.

The committee having in charge the Lincoln day banquet made a report, and it was decided to have the banquet at the Thompson House on next Wednesday evening. The attendance will be large.

HUNTING A JOB.

A Poor Fellow Looking For Work Was a Pitiable Case.

A poor fellow looking for work told a pitiable story in town today. He was a clothing salesman in Kansas City and later in Columbus, but he lost his position when the force was reduced, and has since been in search of employment. He said he could beat his way on the railroads, and had no fear of hurting the railroad companies, but he could not beg from door to door. He walked from Freedom to this city, and stopped at innumerable farm houses along the way, but could not find employment even though he offered to work for his boarding alone.

A STORM ON THE RIVER.

The Waves Rolled High and the Ferry Boat Broke Away.

The storm that raged fiercely last night was felt all over town, but in no place with as much force as on the river. The ferry boat broke from its moorings, and the float on the other side of the river was somewhat damaged. Both were blown around for a few minutes, but prompt action prevented much damage.

People crossing the river in skiffs after midnight were given a scare for the wind blew a gale and the waves ran high. One remarked today that he never knew the time when the river was so rough.

INCREASED THE COMMITTEE.

Hospital Ladies Had a Good Meeting.

The ladies interested in the proposed hospital had a largely attended meeting yesterday afternoon, and talked business for a time. It was found that the committee could not take care of the work of soliciting members, and two were added to it. The ladies are much encouraged over the prospect of success, and think that a sufficient number will soon be interested to form an organization that will work hard and accomplish the purpose. A number of names were added to the membership.

WANTS TO GO HOME.

A Cincinnati Woman is Tired of This City.

A woman who came here from Cincinnati three months ago to find employment in the potteries, having heard that work here was unusually brisk, petitioned the trustees for assistance today. She wanted a ticket to her old home where she said she would be cared for. The trustees thought there was enough work in town to get her a place where she could earn enough money to take her home. Meantime the woman will wait a few days.

INDORSING W. L. SMITH

The County Wants Him To Be National Delegate.

MANY LETTERS ROLL THIS WAY

Not One But What Shows the Sincerity of Columbiana in its Friendship For the Great Protectionist—A Great Big Boost For Mr. Smith.

If Columbiana county is to have her way, W. L. Smith, chairman of the county committee and one of the most prominent Republicans in Eastern Ohio, will have a nice, comfortable seat in the national convention at St. Louis.

Mr. Smith has so long been an active Republican and has so often taken off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and gone to work for the cause, that his friends believe he should be honored by the position of delegate. Mr. Smith has seldom held office, probably because he never cared to, and now those who know him best are determined that his faithful service in the party will be rewarded by giving him an opportunity to vote for his firm friend, William McKinley.

The Eighteenth congressional district will have two representatives in the convention. Mahoning county will probably want one of them and Stark may decide to have a candidate; but Columbiana already has its mind made up, and Mr. Smith is the choice of the people. When the NEWS REVIEW announced some months ago that Mr. Smith's friends were anxious to have him take the place, the news spread rapidly, and letters began to pour in from all parts of the county. To the present over 100 have been received in this city, and they one and all enthusiastically endorse Mr. Smith for the honor. One other feature of these letters is the McKinley sentiment openly expressed. With the writers the governor seems to be in such a splendid position at the head of the list of presidential candidates that they have no second choice. He is first, last and forever with all of them, and that in a measure accounts for the popularity of Mr. Smith. He has long been a close personal friend of Mr. McKinley. For years he has known him, and for years he has bent his every effort political in the direction of the governor. He has always been one of his warmest advocates, and has occupied a high position among the friends of the great statesman. Columbiana county has always been noted for its fidelity to the governor, and never has it been found wanting when placed in the balance. If Major McKinley ever wanted friends, he knew they were to be found among the hills and in the towns of Columbiana. The position of the county and the position of Mr. Smith are identical when Mr. McKinley is concerned, and to that can be laid much of the enthusiasm with which the popular chairman's candidacy is marked. Several townships have already passed resolutions endorsing Mr. Smith for the place, in fact every township where a meeting has been held, and the others will do it when the committeemen get together. The endorsements have been hearty and flattering in the extreme, and come with such force that there is not the slightest doubt of where Mr. Smith stands in relation to them. He will get the unqualified indorsement of the county and every vote cast at the congressional convention from Columbiana will be in his favor. The city is for him, and Wellsville has already decided that way, while leading Republicans in every other town and township have openly expressed themselves on the same line. They want Mr. Smith to help nominate William McKinley at St. Louis.

It will not be long until townships in the county will begin to select delegates for the congressional convention. Caucuses will be held and these delegates will be chosen for places on the ticket. Then they will be voted on at the primaries, March 28. It is expected the convention will be called soon after that date and the national delegates chosen without delay. The exact time and place for the convention have not been decided, but it will of necessity soon be settled.

A QUIET WEEK.

Not Many Goods Moving in New York City.

A trade paper's New York correspondent puts the situation in these words:

"This week has been a quiet one in the district and few buyers were in evidence. Local buyers have busied themselves with searching out small lots in broken lines with which to brighten and replenish their stocks; and they have found some good bargains among the importers and jobbers who have completed stock taking and require space for the new goods daily arriving. There has been a very general indisposition to order largely of fancy goods and the buying has been mostly in the line of staples. Collections are fair and a hopeful feeling pervades the market. But little was expected here until the convening of the jobbers' convention. The January lull in business is a blessing to the wholesaler, permitting him to give time to stock taking, receiving and placing new goods and the making of needed changes and repairs, preparatory to the coming rush of business, his whole attention. With few exceptions the work of preparing for the season is at an end and dealers are ready to accord to buyers a hearty reception."

MORE CANDIDATES.

The City List Has Not Yet Been Completed.

It is rumored in the First ward that George Matheny will be a candidate for council on the Republican ticket. Mr. Matheny has many friends, and would undoubtedly get a good vote at the primaries.

Squire Rose today announces himself for council in the Second ward, and his friends see victory in the air for him. The conviction is growing that a position in council will be an important one before the year is over, and good men are being put forward for the vacancies. The squire has a strong following in his ward.

The waterworks trustee whose term expires this year is Mr. Kerr, and his friends have not heard whether he will be a candidate for re-election. There will be Republicans after the place, and the first name to be formally announced is Jacob Schenkle, of the Globe pottery. The gentleman's success as a business man will work well in his favor.

The last candidates to appear for the Republican primaries are the assessors, and some of those who served last year will be after their old places.

George Ashbaugh was very much amused at the silly statement of a local paper last night that he had formed some combination with Doctor Marshall to control council, and said: "That's nonsense. I don't know Doctor Marshall. I have seen him, but never spoke to him in my life. The idea of me being in a ring is funny."

MADE MONEY.

The Young Woman's Supper Was Very Successful.

The Young Women's society, of the First Presbyterian church, gave a decidedly successful supper last evening, many persons being present. The program was exceptionally amusing, especially the spelling school. Dinner was also served at the church today, and was well patronized.

The Heptasophs installed their officers last night, and instead of having their banquet in the lodge room, went to the church, where they were well taken care of. There were 13 at the table, but the unlucky number had no more effect on the jolly crowd than to cause a few to think of a little extra insurance.

HIS FIRST TRIP.

A Farmer Had a Ride on the Street Car Line.

Passengers in a street car were much amused yesterday by the actions of an old man who was passing through a unique experience. He had often read of the electric cars and had seen them at a distance, but he had never before made so bold as to take a ride. He was greatly pleased with the rate of speed, and expressed his wonder at the doings of electricity in general and the way it was applied to travel in particular. He asked many questions and seemed satisfied with the trip, confidentially telling the man next to him that he would have another ride soon.

Mr. Roob Lost His Way on the Calcutta Road.

Traveling on the Calcutta road is is by no means a pleasant diversion, and occasionally people wander from what should be the beaten path and lose their way. A Mr. Roob had an experience of this kind, and he almost broke his nose as one of the results. He was hastening on his way, as he thought, in the right direction, when he collided with a high board fence. His nose got the full effect of the shock, and bled profusely. HE ASKED QUESTIONS

Superintendent Sanor Submitted a Long List.

TEACHERS ARE TO ANSWER

He Wants to Know Whether They Read the Bible in Their Rooms—Every Phase of the Question Covered by Many Questions—Individual Answers Wanted.

Superintendent Sanor has given the Bible in the schools matter another turn by a list of questions calculated to draw from each teacher just what she has been and is doing on this line.

The lists were presented to the teachers yesterday afternoon, and the teachers were asked to answer without consulting anyone, full and frankly. The first wanted to know if the Bible was read as an opening exercise, and if the teacher had ever done so since being employed here. The date of when it was commenced is asked, and if read and then "the practice ceased" comes next. "Did or do you read it without comment?" is the next question, and information is desired regarding the attention given by the children. The teacher is asked how she knows they undestand it, and is required to give chapters or parts of the Bible that have been read. The reason for reading it, if they do, and the reason for not reading it, if not, is asked, and the superintendent wants to know if the Bible is ever used as a reference book in the history and literature, and if the teacher has many occasions to refer to it for that purpose. They are asked to tell if they encourage pupils to memorize gems from the Bible as from all literature, and what psalms or other selections they have committed as literature. What Bible stories have been read in school to the children is another question, and what Bible stories have the pupils read in regular or supplementary readers is another. Then comes the most important question of the lot. "What, in brief, do you understand to be the position of the board of education on this question?" is the way it is put, and it is followed by, "Are your regular and supplementary books permeated with essential religious truths—i. e., the relation of man to his creator and his fellow man."

That ends the list, and those who read it cannot but see that an answer to each question will bring all the information that could well be gathered on the subject. Superintendent Sanor was seen by a NEWS REVIEW reporter today, and did not seem inclined to discuss the matter at great length. He said that he presented the questions to the teachers for his own private information. Different parties have frequently asked him questions, and he could not answer them because he did not at that moment possess the knowledge. If the board asks him for light on the question now in hand, he will then be able to give it. He wants to know what the teachers have been doing on this line.

KICKED THE SWINDLER.

A Wellsville Woman Made Herself the Law.

A slick swindler has been working Wellsville for several days, and yesterday was punished. He went into a house and sold the woman a fluid that was guaranteed to remove stains, and gave her the exclusive right of selling it in East Liverpool and Wellsville. She thought she had a good thing, and a few hours later went to the house of a friend to make a sale. She was surprised at finding the agent there going through the story he had told her, and being a vigorous woman, she made it warm for him. She kicked him several times, and finally drove him from the town.

DOCTORS IN SESSION.

They Talked Business at the Quarterly Meeting.

Doctor Hobbs is home from Alliance, where he attended the quarterly meeting of the Union Medical association. Mahoning, Stark, Columbiana and Carroll counties are included in the society, and representatives from each were present, the whole number being 75. A number of valuable papers were read, and the visitors were entertained at dinner by the Alliance physicians. The next meeting will be held on the first Thursday in May at Salem. The attendance at the meeting yesterday was unusually large.

CUT OFF THE FOOT.

Miss Bertie Mautz Suffered a Great Misfortune.

Miss Bertie Mautz, a young woman residing in the lower part of the city, has been suffering for 10 weeks from a disease of the bone, one of her ankles being affected. Physicians have constantly been in attendance, and every effort was made to save the foot, but it could not be done. Yesterday afternoon Doctor Andrews, Doctor Marshall and Doctor Taylor were called in and performed the operation of amputating the foot. It was taken off at the ankle, and the sufferer is doing very well today.

ALL NONSENSE.

There Was no Strike at the Sebring Pottery.

The sensational statement in a local paper last night that there was trouble at Sebring's, brought forth many a smile from people who know the facts.

A toilet set was handed over to the gold banders for decoration because the proper workman was not working that day. They liked the work and demanded that all sets of that kind be given them. The company refused, as it was not in their class, and those who did not like working for the concern were invited to quit. Three availed themselves of the opportunity, and their places were filled at once.

DON'T WANT IT.

Charles Reark Not After Political Position.

The first man to kick out of the traces made by Trades council is Charles Reark, who does not want to be the candidate for council from the Third ward. He says that he will not be on the ticket.

Another candidate who doesn't want office is T. C. McConnell, of the Fourth ward. He was nominated for assessor, but is compelled to give it up because he cannot devote his time to making the race. He believes candidates should work hard for place, and if they cannot do this to retire in favor of those who can.

BELIEVES IN THE BILL.

Councilman Stewart Wants Salaries For Officials.

Councilman Stewart is still a firm believer in his bill providing for salaries and not commissions for city officials. To a reporter he said:

"I think the finance committee can convince council of the importance of the measure. When they investigate they will see the economy and the good government of the plan, and I think will find it advisable to adopt it. Other plans have been tried in towns of this size, but as far as I have been able to discover there have been none as satisfactory as the salary system."

A special meeting of finance committee has been called for this evening when the measure will be discussed, and a report for the consideration of council will be decided upon.

A BIG DEPARTMENT STORE.

They Say it Will be Built in Town Very Soon.

There is a rumor that can not be traced to a source that will acknowledge anything, but it is nevertheless taken as truth by some who have heard it. As the story goes a Pittsburg man with two men from Youngstown are endeavoring to purchase a site up town with the view of building upon it a fine block. The building will be occupied by the Youngstown people, and they are anxious to have it up before September. Several attempts, it is said, have been made to buy Sixth street property.

NO FLOOD.

The River is Rising But There is no Danger.

The river continues to rise slowly, but there is little danger of a big flood. Rivermen who have passed through many a stage of high water say there is no fear of the river going beyond its banks, and it will not cause any trouble. The water raised two feet and swept by the city in a great, muddy flood. No apprehension was felt by people living on the river front, though many realized that the water would cause considerable damage if the stream went on a rampage.

A WASHINGTON CELEBRATION.

The Red Men Will Observe the Holiday.

Washington's Birthday will be celebrated in this city, and several organizations are now preparing for the event. The Red Men will have an unusually pleasant time, and their program includes a musical and literary entertainment and a banquet. There will be visitors from a distance. A tea party will be given on the same evening at Brunt's, and other societies will have special services.

Will Have a Concert.

The Sons of America are arranging for a concert to be held on Feb. 22. The organization will devote the proceeds to some charitable cause.

GOING TO ST. LOUIS

The McKinley Club Have Ordered Sleepers.

BERTHS ARE NOW ON SALE

They Are Being Taken Up, and the Trip Already Seems a Success—Four Pullmans Will Make Up the Train—Decided on the Banquet.

The trip of the McKinley club to St. Louis is assured, and the charts of the sleeping cars were placed on sale today.

At the meeting of the club last night the question of the trip was settled, and Will L. Taylor and Charles M. Dix were appointed a sub-committee to look after the arrangements. A telegram was at once sent to the passenger agent in Pittsburg, and the charts of the four cars were placed on sale at the store of Rose and Dix, on Sixth street. The man who intends to make the journey pays $5 guarantee for the berth, which he can occupy while he is away from home. The rate of fare has not yet been given out by the traffic association, but the committee have the assurance that the whole expense for fare and berth will not be more than $22.50, and perhaps it will be less. On the other hand, the probability is that it will be lower than that amount. When the price of a berth is paid a receipt is given. The books are open, and a number of enthusiastic ones were after good places and got them. The berths are not being reserved, and the man who goes early is the one who gets a good thing. If the four sleepers are soon taken, and there are others who want to go, the committee can get others. The cars will be given good track room in the big station at St. Louis, and Liverpool people will sleep in them while they are away.

The committee having in charge the Lincoln day banquet made a report, and it was decided to have the banquet at the Thompson House on next Wednesday evening. The attendance will be large.

HUNTING A JOB.

A Poor Fellow Looking For Work Was a Pitiable Case.

A poor fellow looking for work told a pitiable story in town today. He was a clothing salesman in Kansas City and later in Columbus, but he lost his position when the force was reduced, and has since been in search of employment. He said he could beat his way on the railroads, and had no fear of hurting the railroad companies, but he could not beg from door to door. He walked from Freedom to this city, and stopped at innumerable farm houses along the way, but could not find employment even though he offered to work for his boarding alone.

A STORM ON THE RIVER.

The Waves Rolled High and the Ferry Boat Broke Away.

The storm that raged fiercely last night was felt all over town, but in no place with as much force as on the river. The ferry boat broke from its moorings, and the float on the other side of the river was somewhat damaged. Both were blown around for a few minutes, but prompt action prevented much damage.

People crossing the river in skiffs after midnight were given a scare for the wind blew a gale and the waves ran high. One remarked today that he never knew the time when the river was so rough.

INCREASED THE COMMITTEE.

Hospital Ladies Had a Good Meeting.

The ladies interested in the proposed hospital had a largely attended meeting yesterday afternoon, and talked business for a time. It was found that the committee could not take care of the work of soliciting members, and two were added to it. The ladies are much encouraged over the prospect of success, and think that a sufficient number will soon be interested to form an organization that will work hard and accomplish the purpose. A number of names were added to the membership.

WANTS TO GO HOME.

A Cincinnati Woman is Tired of This City.

A woman who came here from Cincinnati three months ago to find employment in the potteries, having heard that work here was unusually brisk, petitioned the trustees for assistance today. She wanted a ticket to her old home where she said she would be cared for. The trustees thought there was enough work in town to get her a place where she could earn enough money to take her home. Meantime the woman will wait a few days.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, FEB 7.

UNION LABEL

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY,
Of Ohio.

IF the state is to have nothing like the Harris bill, what is to prevent it having a heavier tax on the liquor traffic? That $500 assessment seems about the right thing.

NINE Toledo ministers refused to attend a mass meeting in the interests of the Armenians because it was held in a theater. They evidently think a great deal of the Armenians.

THE name of McKinley resounds through the land, and it is a cheerful sound. For the workman it means better wages and for the capitalist some interest on his invested money.

OHIO is aflame with McKinley sentiment. Newspapers and people are talking of his chances for the presidency, and as the convention time approaches the feeling grows that Mr. McKinley will head the ticket.

ACCORDING to the New York Tribune England can raise a great howl in Turkey if the government had the backbone. "Were she to acknowledge the independence of Arabia and of the holy cities, under the grand shereef, and to prohibit the landing of Turkish troops on the Red Sea of the Yemen, which is in a perpetual state of revolt against the Constantinople government, the Ottoman empire would receive its death blow and crumble to pieces," says the Tribune.

A GOOD SHOWING.

The recent war scare stirred up the secretary of the navy and he sent to congress this week an estimate of the military strength of the country. It shows that an armed and drilled force of 112,859 men could be gathered in the country in short order, and if necessary they could be reinforced from the 10,149,598 men who make up the remainder of the available military force of the nation. Of this great number he said that 650,000 were from Ohio. Think of it, a great army in this state alone, and there are several other states. While it is true these men are not drilled, and many of them know next to nothing of military tactics, they make up a people of superior intelligence. They can read and write and would not consume much time in learning how to handle a gun. Such men would make the best troops in the world, and if called upon to defend their homes would carve out a proud military record. The lion can growl and the symbolical figure of every other nation on earth can behave as it pleases; this country is safe. Ohio can take care of itself and with its available force could make some of the smaller European nations bow in humble submission if it became necessary.

A Des Moines woman who has been troubled with frequent colds, concluded to try an old remedy in a new way, and accordingly took a tablespoonful (four times the usual dose) of Chamberlain's Cough remedy just before going to bed. The next morning she found that her cold had almost entirely disappeared. During the day she took a few doses of the remedy (one teaspoonful at a time) and at night again took a tablespoonful before going to bed, and on the following morning awoke free from all symptoms of the cold. Since then she has, on several occasions, used this remedy in like manner, with the same good results, and is much elated over her discovery of so quick a way of curing a cold. For sale by A. H. QUEER JAMAICA WAYS.

How One Woman Failed In Rome to Do as the Romans Do.

"When in Rome, do as the Romans do," says the old distich, but in these days of universal travel it is somewhat necessary to know beforehand the manners and customs of the native inhabitants of the countries that are visited.

"I have eaten with chopsticks with a mandarin's wife and daughter in China and sat cross legged with the Persian ladies in Teheran and smoked nargiles," said an American woman who was nothing if not cosmopolitan, "but I never failed to adapt myself successfully to the customs of the country until I reached Jamaica, in the West Indies. I had letters to one of the magnates there, and upon delivering them I received a prompt invitation to breakfast and to spend the day. The hour was not mentioned, but as the people were French I supposed of course it was 12 o'clock, a la fourchette, at which time I presented myself, only to find that I had been expected at 8. However, my entertainers were most hospitable, and their usual frugal luncheon of cake, wine and fruit was evidently supplemented by more substantial viands for my benefit. After luncheon I was asked if I would like to take a nap. As I had just arrived I assured my hosts that I never slept in the daytime and proceeded to make myself as agreeable as possible. My entertainers endeavored to be cheerful, but there was something in the atmosphere that made me aware that I had committed a solecism, and that I had guessed rightly was very apparent in the relieved looks of the family when I said that I thought I did feel tired and would be glad to repose myself a little. I was immediately conducted to an apartment which had evidently been arranged with the expectation that I would go regularly to bed, and wishing me a good rest the lady and gentleman of the house left me for the whole afternoon.

"About 5 one of the daughters came to fetch me in a fresh toilet, looking very nice and making me feel very tumbled and untidy in consequence. So after I had been shown the gardens, which were really lovely, I began to make mes adieux. 'But you must stop to dinner,' they urged; 'we quite expected you.' But I thought they had had enough of me and persisted in my refusal. I thought they parted from me rather stiffly, and in driving over the long avenue which led up to the house I met a number of smartly dressed people, who, I afterward learned, had been invited especially to meet me. So I missed it all around and gave no end of trouble and offense, all because I did not just know Jamaica habits."—New York Tribune.

THE CODE OF HONOR.

Dueling as It Was In France In the Time of Richelieu.

The passion for dueling, which had cost France, it was said, between 7,000 and 8,000 lives during the 20 years of Henry IV's reign, was at its height when his son came to the throne. The council of Trent in 1545 had solemnly condemned the practice of single combat, impartially including principals, seconds and spectators in its penalty of excommunication. In 1602 an edict of Henry pronounced the "damnable custom of dueling introduced by the corruption of the century" to be the cause of so many piteous accidents, to the extreme regret and displeasure of the king and to the irreparable damage of the state, "that we should count ourselves unworthy to hold the scepter if we delayed to repress the enormity of this crime."

A whole series of edicts followed to the same effect, but it was easier to make edicts than to enforce them. Degradation, imprisonment, confiscation of property, loss of civil rights and death were the penalties attached to the infringement of the laws against dueling, and still the practice prevailed. In 1626 Richelieu published a milder form of prohibition. The first offense was no longer capital, a third only of the offender's property was to be confiscated, and the judges were permitted to recognize extenuating circumstances.

A few months later the Comte de Bonteville thought fit to test the minister's patience in this direction. The Place Royale had long been a favorite dueling ground, and De Bonteville traveled from Brussels to fight his twenty-second duel here, in the heart of Paris, in deliberate defiance of the king's authority. The result was not encouraging. Montmorency though he was, the count went with his second to the scaffold, and the marked decrease from that time in the number of duels may be attributed either to the moderation used in framing the law or to the inexorable resolution with which it was enforced. —Macmillan's Magazine.

Speed No Object.

"What do you think of my new bays?"

"Why, they're beautiful animals, but they can't trot for shucks."

"Oh, well, I don't care for that part of it."

"You don't?"

"No. If they could do a mile a minute, the boulevard police would hold 'em down to eight miles an hour anyhow."—Chicago Record.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, FEB. 7.

UNION LABEL

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY,
Of Ohio.

IF the state is to have nothing like the Harris bill, what is to prevent it having a heavier tax on the liquor traffic? That $500 assessment seems about the right thing.

NINE Toledo ministers refused to attend a mass meeting in the interests of the Armenians because it was held in a theater. They evidently think a great deal of the Armenians.

THE name of McKinley resounds through the land, and it is a cheerful sound. For the workman it means better wages and for the capitalist some interest on his invested money.

OHIO is aflame with McKinley sentiment. Newspapers and people are talking of his chances for the presidency, and as the convention time approaches the feeling grows that Mr. McKinley will head the ticket.

ACCORDING to the New York Tribune England can raise a great howl in Turkey if the government had the backbone. "Were she to acknowledge the independence of Arabia and of the holy cities, under the grand shereef, and to prohibit the landing of Turkish troops on the Red Sea of the Yemen, which is in a perpetual state of revolt against the Constantinople government, the Ottoman empire would receive its death blow and crumble to pieces," says the Tribune.

A GOOD SHOWING.

The recent war scare stirred up the secretary of the navy and he sent to congress this week an estimate of the military strength of the country. It shows that an armed and drilled force of 112,859 men could be gathered in the country in short order, and if necessary they could be reinforced from the 10,149,598 men who make up the remainder of the available military force of the nation. Of this great number he said that 650,000 were from Ohio. Think of it, a great army in this state alone, and there are several other states. While it is true these men are not drilled, and many of them know next to nothing of military tactics, they make up a people of superior intelligence. They can read and write and would not consume much time in learning how to handle a gun. Such men would make the best troops in the world, and if called upon to defend their homes would carve out a proud military record. The lion can growl and the symbolical figure of every other nation on earth can behave as it pleases; this country is safe. Ohio can take care of itself and with its available force could make some of the smaller European nations bow in humble submission if it became necessary.

A Des Moines woman who has been troubled with frequent colds, concluded to try an old remedy in a new way, and accordingly took a tablespoonful (four times the usual dose) of Chamberlain's Cough remedy just before going to bed. The next morning she found that her cold had almost entirely disappeared. During the day she took a few doses of the remedy (one teaspoonful at a time) and at night again took a tablespoonful before going to bed, and on the following morning awoke free from all symptoms of the cold. Since then she has, on several occasions, used this remedy in like manner, with the same good results, and is much elated over her discovery of so quick a way of curing a cold. For sale by A. H. QUEER JAMAICA WAYS.

How One Woman Failed In Rome to Do as the Romans Do.

"When in Rome, do as the Romans do," says the old distich, but in these days of universal travel it is somewhat necessary to know beforehand the manners and customs of the native inhabitants of the countries that are visited.

"I have eaten with chopsticks with a mandarin's wife and daughter in China and sat cross legged with the Persian ladies in Teheran and smoked nargiles," said an American woman who was nothing if not cosmopolitan, "but I never failed to adapt myself successfully to the customs of the country until I reached Jamaica, in the West Indies. I had letters to one of the magnates there, and upon delivering them I received a prompt invitation to breakfast and to spend the day. The hour was not mentioned, but as the people were French I supposed of course it was 12 o'clock, a la fourchette, at which time I presented myself, only to find that I had been expected at 8. However, my entertainers were most hospitable, and their usual frugal luncheon of cake, wine and fruit was evidently supplemented by more substantial viands for my benefit. After luncheon I was asked if I would like to take a nap. As I had just arrived I assured my hosts that I never slept in the daytime and proceeded to make myself as agreeable as possible. My entertainers endeavored to be cheerful, but there was something in the atmosphere that made me aware that I had committed a solecism, and that I had guessed rightly was very apparent in the relieved looks of the family when I said that I thought I did feel tired and would be glad to repose myself a little. I was immediately conducted to an apartment which had evidently been arranged with the expectation that I would go regularly to bed, and wishing me a good rest the lady and gentleman of the house left me for the whole afternoon.

"About 5 one of the daughters came to fetch me in a fresh toilet, looking very nice and making me feel very tumbled and untidy in consequence. So after I had been shown the gardens, which were really lovely, I began to make mes adieux. 'But you must stop to dinner,' they urged; 'we quite expected you.' But I thought they had had enough of me and persisted in my refusal. I thought they parted from me rather stiffly, and in driving over the long avenue which led up to the house I met a number of smartly dressed people, who, I afterward learned, had been invited especially to meet me. So I missed it all around and gave no end of trouble and offense, all because I did not just know Jamaica habits."—New York Tribune.

THE CODE OF HONOR.

Dueling as It Was In France In the Time of Richelieu.

The passion for dueling, which had cost France, it was said, between 7,000 and 8,000 lives during the 20 years of Henry IV's reign, was at its height when his son came to the throne. The council of Trent in 1545 had solemnly condemned the practice of single combat, impartially including principals, seconds and spectators in its penalty of excommunication. In 1602 an edict of Henry pronounced the "damnable custom of dueling introduced by the corruption of the century" to be the cause of so many piteous accidents, to the extreme regret and displeasure of the king and to the irreparable damage of the state, "that we should count ourselves unworthy to hold the scepter if we delayed to repress the enormity of this crime."

A whole series of edicts followed to the same effect, but it was easier to make edicts than to enforce them. Degradation, imprisonment, confiscation of property, loss of civil rights and death were the penalties attached to the infringement of the laws against dueling, and still the practice prevailed. In 1626 Richelieu published a milder form of prohibition. The first offense was no longer capital, a third only of the offender's property was to be confiscated, and the judges were permitted to recognize extenuating circumstances.

A few months later the Comte de Bouteville thought fit to test the minister's patience in this direction. The Place Royale had long been a favorite dueling ground, and De Bouteville traveled from Brussels to fight his twenty-second duel here, in the heart of Paris, in deliberate defiance of the king's authority. The result was not encouraging. Montmorency though he was, the count went with his second to the scaffold, and the marked decrease from that time in the number of duels may be attributed either to the moderation used in framing the law or to the inexorable resolution with which it was enforced. —Macmillan's Magazine.

Speed No Object.

"What do you think of my new bays?"

"Why, they're beautiful animals, but they can't trot for shucks."

"Oh, well, I don't care for that part of it."

"You don't?"

"No. If they could do a mile a minute, the boulevard police would hold 'em down to eight miles an hour anyhow."—Chicago Record.

Caution about the Use and Selection of Spectacles

"Persons having normal vision will be able to read this print at a distance of 14 inches from the eye with ease and comfort; also will be able to read it with each eye separately. If unable to do so your eyes are defective and should have immediate attention. When the eyes become tired from reading or sewing, or if the letters look blurred and run together, it is a sure indication that glasses are needed. The lenses sold in the cheap goods are of unequal density and have imperfectly formed surfaces. Continued use of these poorer lenses will result in positive injury from the constant strain upon the muscles of accomodation to supply the defects in the glass."

RETURNED THE REPORT

The Grand Jury Found a Few Indictments.

LIQUOR CASES UNDER THE HAT

There Were Fifty-two Indictments and Only a Few Were Announced—The Usual Complaint About the Jail—Sheriff Gill Highly Commended.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Feb. 7—The grand jury made a report last night, but it contains nothing startling beyond the fact that only a few cases were made public, causing the belief that the remainder are liquor cases.

Fred Metzinger, of East Liverpool is indicted for cutting with intent to kill, and Jesse Myers, of West township, must answer to the charge of rape. Isaac Williams, of Clarkson, is charged with larceny, and Henry Blackwell and William Jacobs, of Washingtonville, have each a case of assault and battery on hand. The culprits will be arraigned as soon as possible, and a criminal assignment will likely be made for next week. The report regarding the jail is drawn on the lines so well known to the people of the county. The sewerage is given especial attention, and the commissioners are urged to look after it at once. Sheriff Gill comes in for a lot of warm praise for the exemplary manner in which he conducts the prison. Of course the jury thinks a new jail would be the proper thing.

The other indicted parties will be made known as soon as they are placed under bond to appear in court, and there are mysterious rumors about the courthouse that all the other cases are for infractions of liquor laws. If this should prove true East Liverpool has likely been given some attention.

SETTLED THE SUIT.

The Bradshaw-Deidrick Case Didn't Come to Trial.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Feb. 7.—The case of the Bradshaw heirs against J. C. Deidrick did not come to trial this morning, the matter being settled by the attorneys. The terms of settlement compel Deidrick to pay the estate $150 and return such material as was not handed over to the heirs when the last settlement was made. There were a few Liverpool witnesses here.

Some difficulty has been experienced in selecting a petit jury, and six names were drawn today. They are the following: T. J. Smith and J. C Taggart, East Liverpool; James Boyce, Yellow Creek; S. F. Groner, Salem; M. H. Chandler, Center; Eden Reeder, Hanover.

MUST PAY UP.

A Subscriber to Mt. Hope College Lost His Case.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Feb. 7.—The case of Mt. Hope college against Robert Calvin, which involved $25, came to an end in court last night. The jury was out only a short time, but decided in favor of the college. It is an old case, and has long been on the docket. Calvin subscribed the amount for which suit was entered, and then refused to pay it. Now the court says he must pay the subscription as well as the costs.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—William H. English, vice presidential candidate with General Hancock died here this afternoon.

An Unseasonable Request.

A gentleman was hurrying down the street in a biting frost. His topcoat was buttoned right up to his ears, and the very thought of unbuttoning it made him shudder. Still he would have liked to know how late it was, but as for consulting the watch that nestled in his waistcoat pocket—ugh! Just then another gentleman came into view. The two gradually approached each other, and the first gentleman who wanted to know how late it was hazarded the question:

"Sir, do you happen to know what time it is?"

The stranger stood still, pulled off his right glove, unbuttoned his overcoat from chin to waist and drew out his watch as the piercing wind played about his unprotected chest. He held it up to the dim light of the street lamp and carefully examined the dial plate and said:

"Yes, I know now." With these words he replaced his watch and made tracks without satisfying the curiosity of his interlocutor.—Kattowitzer Zeitung.

An Intimate Friend of Hornets.

It is Mrs. Brightwen's privilege to be unusually well placed for the minute study of living creatures, and her pets have included lemurs, an ichneumon, squirrels, doves, owls, tortoises and so on. Squirrels and birds she has lured from the woods and won their affection by kindness, and in addition to giving many particulars about these she has something to say about studying nature, teaching children to be humane and the pleasures of insect observation, etc. That insects can discriminate between friends and enemies is, she holds, true, and she remembers once in a country village seeing a man hard at work thrashing corn in a barn, and quite near to him there was an immense hornets' nest hanging from a beam. When asked if he was not afraid of them, he smiled and said: "Oh, they know me well enough. One of 'em fell inside my shirt the other day, but he was very ceevil and never stung me, for I never interferes wi' them, and they never interferes wi' me."—Westminster Budget.

THE COLISEUM.

Rome's Vast Ellipse and the Many Changing Moods It Has Seen.

It seems strange that not until the middle of last century did it occur to any of the successors of Peter to rescue from the desecration of indifference a spot saturated, one may say without hyperbole, with the blood of the martyrs. Everybody knows that earthquake, fire and inundation competed with each other for its destruction. Guiscard's troopers stalled themselves there, and the Frangipani transformed it into a fortress. When less turbulent times supervened, it became by tacit consent the common quarry of the more powerful Roman houses. When for a time friendly enough with each other, they held tilt and tourney within it, and then mystery plays restored for a time its theatrical character. Sixtus V had a scheme for turning it into a woolen manufactory, and another prince of peace thought it would serve capitally as a powder magazine. Meanwhile it remained a convenient market place for the sale of vegetables. But in 1750 an earnest Ligurian monk, Leonardo da Porto Maurizio, came to Rome, craved audience of Benedict XIV, and obtaining papal sanction for the new form of devotion known as the Via Crucis, induced the sovereign pontiff to consecrate the Coliseum to celebrate mass there and to erect a large wooden cross in the very center of the pagan arena.

Ever since the stations of the cross, commemorating the journey to Calvary, have encircled the vast ellipse, and the newcomers whose rising voices disturbed my reverie are wandering hither behind a tall, barefooted, bareheaded Franciscan friar, to make the dolorous pilgrimage. All the fine ladies of Rome are there, and, heedless of delicate flounce and furbelow, they kneel on the unswept ground at every halt made by the rosary girdled monk and bow their heads in audible lamentation. Then, when the long, sad service is completed, he rebukes them for their transgressions and invites them to a holier life. That much I can make out from where I sit, in sympathetic contemplation of the scene, though no small part of his exhortation reaches me, but in fitful vowel sounds, musical, but somewhat vague in meaning. Before they have come to a close a blare of trumpets tells me that a body of French zouaves is coming along the Via San Gregorio, between the Palatine and Cælian hills, on their way back to barracks from the exercising ground that lies beyond the tomb of Caius Cestus and Shelley's burial place.

The insolence of alien drum,
Vexing the bright blue air,
To smite a people's anguish dumb
Or speed a rash despair,
That once had wrung
That prophet tongue
To challenge force and cheer the slave,
Rolls unrebuked around his grave.

NEW YORK CANDY PEDDLERS.

Clustered In Dingy East Side Rooms, They Sleep on the Floor.

Very nearly all the dark skinned men who sell that brilliantly colored candy from push carts are members of a regular clan and for the most part Greeks. When the day has ended and their work is done, they gather together in a dozen or more dens in Roosevelt and Cherry streets just at the foot of the famous Cherry hill, there to eat, rest and before sleeping to load up their carts for the morrow, that they may get an early start.

One of these rendezvous presents a unique appearance late at night. It is generally a store on the ground floor, that the push carts may be trundled out easily when heavily loaded. From the sidewalk the "store" does not show a single ray of light. It looks forbidding and deserted. But its door opens readily. The entire front of the long apartment is filled up with carts laden with the sweets and displaying signs. Only a narrow passageway is left to get to the back of the room.

Here, around a smudgy table, five or six chattering Greeks are playing cards and quarreling over the game. On the boards is spread a quantity of candy, newly made and cooling, for it is in a room back of this that the stuff is prepared. The candy maker not only makes a profit selling to the peddlers, but he gets still more of their money, lodging them on the same floor as their push carts. Sometimes when a peddler is "broke" the maker of sweets sends him out with a load of candy to sell on shares, but as a general thing he gets cash for his product before the carts go out.

Beds are, for the most part, unknown luxuries. Only the most prosperous peddlers seem to be able to afford them. Generally the floor is marked out with chalk lines, divided into narrow squares, and there on the hard boards, without disrobing or changing an article of their clothing, the candy peddlers sleep.—New York Herald.

Maternal Pride.

"Just think of it," she said proudly, as the voice of her son rose above all the others in the college yell.

"Just think of what?" asked her husband.

"Hiram and all those other boys conversing in Greek just as natural and easy as if it was their natural tongue."—Washington Star.

Possession.

It so falls out that what we have we prize not to the worth while we enjoy it; but, being lacked and lost, why, then, we rack the value. Then we find the virtue that possession would not show us while it was ours.—Shakespeare.

If we must accept fate, we are not less compelled to assert liberty, the significance of the individual, the grandeur of duty, the power of character.—Emerson.

If we would have anything of benefit, we must earn it, and earning it become shrewd, inventive, ingenious, active, enterprising.—H. W. Beecher.

RETURNED THE REPORT

The Grand Jury Found a Few Indictments.

LIQUOR CASES UNDER THE HAT

There Were Fifty-two Indictments and Only a Few Were Announced—The Usual Complaint About the Jail—Sheriff Gill Highly Commended.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Feb. 7—The grand jury made a report last night, but it contains nothing startling beyond the fact that only a few cases were made public, causing the belief that the remainder are liquor cases.

Fred Metzinger, of East Liverpool is indicted for cutting with intent to kill, and Jesse Myers, of West township, must answer to the charge of rape. Isaac Williams, of Clarkson, is charged with larceny, and Henry Blackwell and William Jacobs, of Washingtonville, have each a case of assault and battery on hand. The culprits will be arraigned as soon as possible, and a criminal assignment will likely be made for next week. The report regarding the jail is drawn on the lines so well known to the people of the county. The sewerage is given especial attention, and the commissioners are urged to look after it at once. Sheriff Gill comes in for a lot of warm praise for the exemplary manner in which he conducts the prison. Of course the jury thinks a new jail would be the proper thing.

The other indicted parties will be made known as soon as they are placed under bond to appear in court, and there are mysterious rumors about the courthouse that all the other cases are for infractions of liquor laws. If this should prove true East Liverpool has likely been given some attention.

SETTLED THE SUIT.

The Bradshaw-Deidrick Case Didn't Come to Trial.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Feb. 7.—The case of the Bradshaw heirs against J. C. Deidrick did not come to trial this morning, the matter being settled by the attorneys. The terms of settlement compel Deidrick to pay the estate $150 and return such material as was not handed over to the heirs when the last settlement was made. There were a few Liverpool witnesses here.

Some difficulty has been experienced in selecting a petit jury, and six names were drawn today. They are the following: T. J. Smith and J. C Taggart, East Liverpool; James Boyce, Yellow Creek; S. F. Groner, Salem; M. H. Chandler, Center; Eden Reeder, Hanover.

MUST PAY UP.

A Subscriber to Mt. Hope College Lost His Case.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Feb. 7.—The case of Mt. Hope college against Robert Calvin, which involved $25, came to an end in court last night. The jury was out only a short time, but decided in favor of the college. It is an old case, and has long been on the docket. Calvin subscribed the amount for which suit was entered, and then refused to pay it. Now the court says he must pay the subscription as well as the costs.

THE COLISEUM.

Rome's Vast Ellipse and the Many Changing Moods It Has Seen.

It seems strange that not until the middle of last century did it occur to any of the successors of Peter to rescue from the desecration of indifference a spot saturated, one may say without hyperbole, with the blood of the martyrs. Everybody knows that earthquake, fire and inundation competed with each other for its destruction. Guiscard's troopers stalled themselves there, and the Frangipani transformed it into a fortress. When less turbulent times supervened, it became by tacit consent the common quarry of the more powerful Roman houses. When for a time friendly enough with each other, they held tilt and tourney within it, and then mystery plays restored for a time its theatrical character. Sixtus V had a scheme for turning it into a woolen manufactory, and another prince of peace thought it would serve capitally as a powder magazine. Meanwhile it remained a convenient market place for the sale of vegetables. But in 1750 an earnest Ligurian monk, Leonardo da Porto Maurizio, came to Rome, craved audience of Benedict XIV, and obtaining papal sanction for the new form of devotion known as the Via Crucis, induced the sovereign pontiff to consecrate the Coliseum to celebrate mass there and to erect a large wooden cross in the very center of the pagan arena.

Ever since the stations of the cross, commemorating the journey to Calvary, have encircled the vast ellipse, and the newcomers whose rising voices disturbed my reverie are wandering hither behind a tall, barefooted, bareheaded Franciscan friar, to make the dolorous pilgrimage. All the fine ladies of Rome are there, and, heedless of delicate flounce and furbelow, they kneel on the unswept ground at every halt made by the rosary girdled monk and bow their heads in audible lamentation. Then, when the long, sad service is completed, he rebukes them for their transgressions and invites them to a holier life. That much I can make out from where I sit, in sympathetic contemplation of the scene, though no small part of his exhortation reaches me, but in fitful vowel sounds, musical, but somewhat vague in meaning. Before they have come to a close a blare of trumpets tells me that a body of French zouaves is coming along the Via San Gregorio, between the Palatine and Cælian hills, on their way back to barracks from the exercising ground that lies beyond the tomb of Caius Cestus and Shelley's burial place.

The insolence of alien drum,
Vexing the bright blue air,
To smite a people's anguish dumb
Or speed a rash despair,
That once had wrung
That prophet tongue
To challenge force and cheer the slave,
Rolls unrebuked around his grave.

NEW YORK CANDY PEDDLERS.

Clustered In Dingy East Side Rooms, They Sleep on the Floor.

Very nearly all the dark skinned men who sell that brilliantly colored candy from push carts are members of a regular clan and for the most part Greeks. When the day has ended and their work is done, they gather together in a dozen or more dens in Roosevelt and Cherry streets just at the foot of the famous Cherry hill, there to eat, rest and before sleeping to load up their carts for the morrow, that they may get an early start.

One of these rendezvous presents a unique appearance late at night. It is generally a store on the ground floor, that the push carts may be trundled out easily when heavily loaded. From the sidewalk the "store" does not show a single ray of light. It looks forbidding and deserted. But its door opens readily. The entire front of the long apartment is filled up with carts laden with the sweets and displaying signs. Only a narrow passageway is left to get to the back of the room.

Here, around a smudgy table, five or six chattering Greeks are playing cards and quarreling over the game. On the boards is spread a quantity of candy, newly made and cooling, for it is in a room back of this that the stuff is prepared. The candy maker not only makes a profit selling to the peddlers, but he gets still more of their money, lodging them on the same floor as their push carts. Sometimes when a peddler is "broke" the maker of sweets sends him out with a load of candy to sell on shares, but as a general thing he gets cash for his product before the carts go out.

Beds are, for the most part, unknown luxuries. Only the most prosperous peddlers seem to be able to afford them. Generally the floor is marked out with chalk lines, divided into narrow squares, and there on the hard boards, without disrobing or changing an article of their clothing, the candy peddlers sleep.—New York Herald.

Maternal Pride.

"Just think of it," she said proudly, as the voice of her son rose above all the others in the college yell.

"Just think of what?" asked her husband.

Possession.

It so falls out that what we have we prize not to the worth while we enjoy it; but, being lacked and lost, why, then, we rack the value. Then we find the virtue that possession would not show us while it was ours.—Shakespeare.

If we must accept fate, we are not less compelled to assert liberty, the significance of the individual, the grandeur of duty, the power of character.—Emerson.

If we would have anything of benefit, we must earn it, and earning it become shrewd, inventive, ingenious, active, enterprising.—H. W. Beecher.

GOOD WORK WILL BE DONE

The Second Night of the Evangelistic Work Attracts an Immense Audience. Synopsis of the Evangelist's Address. The Master Answers Prayer.

"Pass Under the Blood" was the selection of song which opened the meeting at the rink last night, Mrs. Ted Brookes presiding at the organ. Then came, "What a Wonderful Savior," the audience joining in with a will. Next came "Wonderful Story of Love," and then Reverend Huffer announced prayer on the part of several laymen in the audience, this being followed by the singing of "Coronation."

At 10 minutes of eight o'clock the evangelist took charge, announcing as the song selection "Oh, to be Something," stating that Sankey's sweet singing had much to do with his conversion. Then came selections of song, first by the choir, and the audience coming in on the chorus. Then the children rendered song service; next those up to the age of 40 years; this followed by those ranging from 40 to 65 years, the evangelist keeping up a running commentary of exhortation and innocent pleasantries, winning the vast audience to close attention. Reverend O'Meara, of St. Stephen's church, led in earnest prayer, asking God's blessing on the movement and upon the evangelist in his work for Jesus.

Reverend Huffer, of the Christian church, read the scripture lesson, after which the "offering" was taken. Schiverea invited everybody to come to the rink next Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, open to men alone; the subject "Something That Every Man Believes In." All are interested, saloonkeeper, libertines, good men and bad men; no boys under 12 years of age admitted. No boys allowed, unless accompanied by parents or guardians. Next came the singing of the doxology, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," after which Rev. John Lloyd Lee led in prayer.

The evangelist then assumed charge of the meeting and urged that professing Christians go to the gallery the first thing tonight and give the non-professors the opportunity to occupy the body of the rink. There was an overflow meeting last night, those unable to gain admission to the rink going to the Presbyterian church. Tonight and hereafter, during the meetings, Reverend Schiverea will first address the crowd at the rink, and afterwards talk to those assembled at Doctor Lee's church.

The eleventh chapter of John and fortieth verse was then read by the evangelist, and the raising of Lazarus from the dead was made the subject of a talk which won close attention from the immense mass of people. Lazarus was dead; had been entombed for four days; his sisters told the sad news to Jesus; they knew he would rise again in the great resurrection morn; but they could not and did not believe he would rise again upon this earth, visible to mortal eyes and back to mortal love and kindred. Lazarus was dead; and there is a host of dead now in East Liverpool; dead with an awful death; dead in trespasses and sins. Jesus uses the very same words to us tonight that he did to the sisters of Lazarus in the olden time, "if thou wilt believe then shalt thou see the glory of God." But the sisters and their friends had a work to do; they were commanded to roll away the stone." God would do nothing until they did what they could. Jesus commands us to do what we can. We must not and shall not be permitted to ask the why and wherefore. God commands; humanity has but to obey. Give implicit obedience, and you will be blessed to a degree which you have never even dreamed of. You have as much to do with bringing the answer to your prayers as has the blessed Master. Praver is the mighty lever which moves the world. Here's a homely illustration of faith and of faith and works combined, although I do not advocate the modus operandi of the colored man. He was sick and he wanted chicken; he wanted that chicken awful bad; the first night he prayed for it earnestly, but it came not; he urged the matter the second night, but no fowl arrived. He then came to the conclusion that faith without works was a failure, and he worked the combination—rose from his bed the third night and went out and got the poultry. There were two farmers; one was blessed with good crops, fine stock and general prosperity; the other's crops failed, his stock was scraggy and everything he put his hand to failed. The prosperous farmer prayed earnestly that his less fortunate neighbor might be blessed; that good fortune, provision, etc., might be sent to him by the Lord. Finally the farmer's boy, who had been listening closely to his father's prayers, broke in with: "Say, pap, I believe the Lord wants you to answer that prayer yourself, and I'll hitch up the team, load up the wagon with potatoes, apples, wheat, pork and a few other necessaries, and take them over to neighbor Smith." And he did, and prayer was answered. Do you see the application? You must roll away the stone, and the rolling must be done right here in East Liverpool.

The inconsistency of professing Christians sends many precious souls to hell. Many members of your churches are merely using their position in the house of God for business purposes, or for advancement in the social circle. The man who joins a church from such motives is no better than the thief who steals a pocketbook, and I'd rather trust the thief. Such members would make even the devil blush.

At Chicago, at the World's fair, the heathen had experience with this class of church members, and they said: "If that's a fair specimen of Christianity, we want none of it."

If we have Christ's religion, there will be no necessity of us telling the world we have it. It will shine out in our faces and our lives. Think of a member of a Christian Endeavor taking sacrament on Sunday and going to a private dance on Monday. Such Christianity dances the party believing in it down into hell. A young lady Endeavorer was on her way to a dance, when a true Christian addressed her as follows: "Can you take Christ with you to this dance? Can you save a soul in the dance room?" She dared to make reply that she could do Christian work at either the private or public dance, and went on her way. When she was promenading with a fine-looking fellow during the evening, she turned her eyes up into his face and said: "My dear friend, are you a Christian?" The reply came in courteous tones: "I am sorry to say that I am not." Then the Endeavorer, in pathetic tones, said: "Oh, I'm so sorry." Then her escort said to her: "Are you a Christian?" The reply came promptly: "Oh, yes." Dropping her arm he turned upon her and said: "You are are Christian? Then, in the name of God, what are you doing here?" Oh, my people, when I was wicked, straight on the road to hell, I met lots of church members whom I know did such evil work as I would not think of doing.

Think of the member of your school board of East Liverpool, who advocates the dismissal of all the teachers and the closing of the schools, rather than have the precious Bible, the word of God, read in those schools. Oh, shame upon you if you permit such work. All over this grand country we find that one or two men control the entire board; and the same rule holds good here. Think of that poor girl, turned out of her school because she dared to read the word of God to her pupils. How can you permit such work in your midst. Look at Manitoba, where thousands of Catholics voted to retain the Bible—the Protestant Bible—in the schools. Shame on you, Protestants of East Liverpool, for permitting it to be barred out here. In the name of our God, I protest against this infamy. Think of it, men and women of this city. I was christened a Roman Catholic; and yet here I stand, pleading that the Protestant Bible shall be read to the children in your public schools.

You say that you believe in the Bible, but that there are many things therein that you can not understand, and ask what you shall do in such an emergency. Do as the man eating fish does; throw the bones to one side and keep on eating the good meat. There is plenty of good meat in the Bible to keep you reading and studying and profiting thereby for all your life.

Ho, there, you infidels. What has infidelity done for the world, from Voltaire down to poor Bob Ingersoll? Nothing—worse than nothing. The infidel comes to me and tells me my religion and my bible are all bosh. I look at him and say to him, "Can you give me anything better—anything as good?" He stammers and stutters, and is finally forced to say "No." Then I tell him to shut up and take himself off, and leave to me my only hope and consolation. Think of it, men; our God, your God, my God, will stop the creation of a mighty world, in order to save a single soul. Oh, how precious that soul must be. I'll hold on to my Bible and to the blessed Christ until the world can give me

A HOT DENUNCIATION

Made by Members of the McKinley Club.

REGARDING M'LAUGHLIN'S TALE

A Committee Was Appointed to Investigate the Matter and Will Report at the Next Meeting—Officers are Elected for the Coming Term.

The McKinley club met in their rooms on Fifth street last night, a large audience being present. Many new members were added to the roll, and the club is now one of the most prosperous in the city.

The report of the treasurer for the past six months of the club showed a balance of $20.43. The financial secretary then read his report and E. W. Hill, as recording secretary of the club, in a neat and very interesting speech, gave a brief review of the history of the organization, telling how it came to life, and related several anecdotes that pleased all.

The statement alleged to have been made by J. B. McLaughlin, as published in the Pittsburg Times last Monday, was brought up, and the denunciations were hot and heavy, as McLaughlin has up to the present time not even made an attempt to deny the statement, his action in going to the Post, a notorious Democratic sheet, to make his statement, instead of the paper that published the article, being in reality a voluntary confession. The spirit of fairness prevailed, however, and it was decided to take no action until an ivestigation was made and the truth found out. A committee, composed of F. H. Croxall, F. E. Grosshans and W. V. Blake were appointed and will report at the next meeting. If McLaughlin is innocent, the club, as well as the NEWS REVIEW, the leading Republican paper of the county, will take pleasure in exonerating him, but if he is guilty, denunciations, hot and scathing, will follow, and he will be ignominiously expelled from membership in the club. In the the article published in the Post, he made no refutation of the story about ex-Governor McKinley and his honored wife.

The election of officers was the next business and the following officers were selected: President, G. W. Ashbaugh; vice president, John S. Goodwin; recording secretary, E. W. Hill; financial secretary, Charles M. Dix; treasurer, F. H. Croxall; sergeant-at arms, George Grosshan.

F. E. Grosshans moved that an auditing committee be appointed, and President Walter Hill called for the new president to take the chair, who after a short speech appointed Thomas Arbuckle, Dan Nellis, S. T. Herbert as the committee. A vote of thanks was then tendered the retiring officers and was responded to by Walter Hill, who said he thought it would also be well to tender the officers that had been re-elected a vote of thanks. This was done, and the business being finished the club was ready for the literary program.

The address of A. H. Clarke on "The Republican Party and Its Relation to the Tariff," was an interesting and instructive one, and was listened to with rapt attention by the members present. The gentleman reviewed the history of the Republican party and the tariff question, going clear back to the days of Washington, and bringing it down to the present time, in a logical manner that none could fail to understand.

He was followed by D. J. Smith on the same subject, who made an unusually fine extemporaneous address. Mr. Smith told many anecdotes to illustrate his points, and was warmly requested to continue when he stated that he would have to close. The meeting then adjourned and the club will hold another meeting in the near future to transact business of importance.

NEW BALL GROUNDS.

They Will Be Located on the West Virginia Side.

A base ball ground will be fitted up across the river by the bridge people, and will be made an ideal one. The grounds will be located directly across from the wharf boat, and will be enclosed by a high, tight board fence. Work will be commenced grading and getting the ground in shape in the near future, and although it will not be finished in time to have any ball games there this season, the Eclipse football team contemplate playing their games there in the fall. This is a move that has been contemplated several times, but no definite action has been taken until the present time.

The Columbian ball club of East End met last night and considered two propositions for grounds that were presented to them. One is for a ground above the sewer pipe works and the other is the race track. There is money back of the club, and if either ground is accepted, it will be put in first-class shape for use.

The Young Men's Christian Association ball club failed to meet last night, as there was not a sufficient number present to transact business. Another meeting will be called in the near future.

A RUMOR

That Two More School Teachers Will Resign.

In lieu of the reading of the bible in the schools, Superintendent Sanor has submitted a list of poems, extracts and a few passages taken from the scriptures to be read to the scholars. A few of the poems and extracts touch on religion. It is rumored that there are two more teachers, who feel that their consciences will not permit them to discontinue the use of the Bible in the school, and they are seriously contemplating sending in their resignations, in preference to being denied this privilege, that has so long been in vogue with them. Some time since the superintendent instructed the scholars of the grammar school to read and study carefully "Don Quixote," and then write an essay on the work. There are many who think that the studying of the bible would be productive of more good than the reading of this racy literature.

KILLED THE DOG.

And the Owner Wanted to Whip the Motorman.

A street car ran over a pup near the West End pottery yesterday afternoon and completely severed its head from the body. The owner of the dog was nearby and immediately boarded the car and invited the motorman off to do battle, which proposition the motorman refused, to the disgust of a number of spectators who expected to see some fun. The man declared that the motorman did it on purpose, while the street car man said it was purely accidental. The dog, as is usual in such cases, was a valuable one.

RAN AWAY.

A Horse Scared by Two Small Boys on Avondale Street.

A horse belonging to James Blazier was attached to a wagon and standing on Avondale street yesterday afternoon, and two small boys began to unharness the animal. This scared it, and caused it to take fright and run away. The wagon parted from the harness and was thrown over the hillside, and continued on its course until it struck a snag in the form of a stump of a tree. The horse was stopped on Walnut street, near Knowles pottery. The wagon was partly demolished.

HUMPHREYS AGAIN

Ran Away From the Infirmary Yesterday Morning.

Tommy Humphreys, the irrepressible Tommy, is back in the city again. He stole away from the infirmary early yesterday morning, and arrived here last night. He said that he came home to gather up a few of his belongings, preparatory to leaving for England. Trustee Albright is of the opinion that the authorities at the infirmary will put a ball and chain on Humphreys when he returns.

A Funny Incident.

One young lady, a member of the chorus at the rink, had in her possession last night an invitation to a private dance, which she dropped on the floor. It was picked up by another member and returned to her. Whether she dropped it purposely is not known, but when it is remembered Evangelist Schiverea preached straight at dances, it looks as though her conscience might have troubled her, and caused her to lose the invitation.

S. J. Roller,

Canditate for infirmary director, was in the city yesterday and paid the NEWS REVIEW office a visit. He is an old comrade, having done good service in the One Hundred and Fourth Ohio volunteer infantry, and was a sojourner in that famous, or infamous, southern hotel, Andersonville prison pen.

Will Meet Tonight.

The board of health will meet tonight and the annual reports of the secretary and health officer will be heard. There is but one more meeting to be held before the expiration of the terms of the present members of the board.

Not Superstitious.

The Cosmopolitan club took in 13 new members last meeting night. They evidently are not superstitious.

LEGALITY QUESTIONED

The Appointment Made by the Board.

INTERPRETATION OF THE LAW

Miss Deidrick Cannot Legally Collect Any Compensation for Services She May Render—Has no Certificate—Board's Action Illegal.

Since the dismissal of Miss Florence Jessop as a teacher in the Fourth street school building, the legality of the action of the board of education in appointing Miss Alice Deidrick to fill the vacancy, even temporarily, is questioned. Miss Deidrick never received any certificate from the board of examiners authorizing her to legally teach school, and until such a certificate can be produced no compensation for services rendered can be received.

Section 4051 of the revised statutes of Ohio, distinctly specifies that the clerk shall only issue an order on the treasury for the payment of a teachers's salary when a certificate is produced, signed by a majority of the examiner's, certifying that he or she has passed a successful examination and is qualified to be a teacher.

Section 4074 of the statutes, provides that no person shall be employed as a teacher in the common schools, by the board, who has not received a certificate from the board of examiners.

Miss Deidrick cannot produce the necessary prerequisite to teach, and it is evident from the interpretation of the law that she cannot legally collect any remuneration for any service she may render teaching.

THE BANK CAME DOWN

And James Polk Green Was Beneath the Debris.

James Polk Green, of Calcutta road, had a narrow escape from death about 4:30 yesterday afternoon, and as it is, he now lies at his home, his body covered with many bruises, owing to a quantity of rock and frozen earth falling on top of him.

Green and a fellow workman, George Aker, were engaged in stripping soap stone in a quarry just over the hill from Calcutta road, near intersection with Wall street, and an effort was being made to dislodge a large stone from the side of the bank and they resorted to undermining to endeavor to loosen it. The rock was still thought to be perfectly secure and Green turned to perform some other mission, when, without a moment's warning, the great mass of stone and dirt gave way and fell. Akers saw the danger that his fellow workman was in and shouted to him to get out of harm's way. It was too late, however, and Green was caught by the great mass of debris and partially covered. Akers ran to his companion's assistance, and after some difficulty succeded in extricating him from his perilous position.

When the earth struck Green he was thrown on his breast and badly crushed, his back bearing many bruises. One finger is mashed and the flesh in some parts is torn from his limbs.

He was assisted to his home and a physician summoned, who made an examination and pronounced his injuries such that will detain him bedfast for some time to come, although he does not think they will prove serious.

A STOCKHOLDER

In a Gold Mine in Mexico Spent a Few Days Here.

A. B. Smith, one of the stockholders in the Mexican gold mine that W. L. Smith and Col. J. N. Taylor are interested in, has been in town the past few days. Mr. Smith formerly lived in Wellsville and is a cousin to Judge P. M. Smith, and makes yearly trips from Mexico to this place. Mr. Smith left for the oil regions in Butler county, Pa., today, to look after his oil interests there. It will be remembered that Mr. Smith contracted with Electrician McKeon, of the light plant here, some time ago, to go to Mexico and equip the mines with electric lights.

An Old Resident Dead.

Walter Cook, Sr., died last night at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Sanders Bevington, Third street, after an illness of asthma. Deceased was aged 71 years and has been a resident of this city since 1853. He was one of the first to engage in the potting business here. The funeral will take place from the residence of Mayor Gilbert tomorrow afternoon at 3:30.

The remains of Lola, the 11-year-old child of Mrs. Emmett Whan, were taken to East Palestine for interment today.

TRUE courage

Is THE courage of your convictions.

THE true man or woman cannot be bought with a price.

THE school board don't want to read resolutions or memorials from churches and patriotic societies. Why?

SPAIN may hate the Yankee with a terrible, demoniac hatred. But the average don has a healthy respect for the power of Uncle Samuel's Jack tars.

ONE of the features to especially admire in Evangelist Schiverea is his intense earnestness. A second feature worthy of commendation is his absolute fearlessness in condemnation of that which he believes to be evil and dangerous to the community.

CLEVELAND should not hate Spain, simply because Spain was so eager to recognize the southern confederacy, shortly after the outbreak of the great rebellion, as many of Grover's present counsellors and warm personal friends were warm admirers and advocates of that confederacy.

THE Catholics of Manitoba voted to retain the protestant Bible in the schools. What's the matter with the miserable excuse made by some members of the board that they forbid the reading of the Bible in order to please the Catholic element of East Liverpool. Is this their true reason? Turn on the light.

WHAT DOES HE MEAN?

He is a man of striking appearance, showing strong muscular power; is of medium height, broad chested, and his voice indicates immense strength of lung. He has the appearance of one whom the average tough would not care for tackling. He came into the office of the NEWS REVIEW yesterday afternoon, responded to an invitation to be seated with a hearty "thank you, sir," took a chair and said: "Do you know the power which controls East Liverpool?" We confessed that we were, to a certain extent, all at sea respecting the elucidation of the conundrum, and he continued: "I am not astonished at your reticence. I recognize the fact that at times 'speech is silver and silence is golden;' but I believe that you do know the power which is now controlling this city, and you know, further, that it is controlling it to the city's hurt. I know that now is not the proper time to develop the matter, as the evangelist meetings are on, and will do great good to your city of East Liverpool. But the time of development is not far distant. The field will be cultivated, the grain put in and the harvest arrive in due time. Will your harvesters be on hand? Will they be men of manly mien, doing the work which God has mapped out for them? Why, sir, the question of the reading of the bible in your public schools is but a feeler; but a measure to test the pulse and heart beats of the public at large. Your public school system is the barrier which must be torn down. It is the educator which stands in the way of a system of power whose motto is 'rule or ruin?' As I said before, I know that you are better posted than you profess to be. I know that you are keeping your eyes open and watching the trend of events and happenings; but you are bending to the idea that 'speech is silver and silence is golden,' and you can be prevailed upon to utter the right speech when the emergency demands. Good day, sir. I shall call upon you at some future time." Who is he? What does he mean? Turn on the light.

JOSEPH BROS.

AN ANGRY WESTERNER

The President's Missionary Address Has Caused Offense.

CONGRESSMAN HARTMAN'S ATTACK.

He Makes a Sensational Verbal Assault on Mr. Cleveland on Account of Utterances In the New York Address Couldn't Stop Him.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—A sensational attack has been made in the house upon President Cleveland by Mr. Hartman (Rep., Mont.), who felt himself personally aggrieved by Mr. Cleveland's utterances at the Presbyterian Home mission meeting in New York on Tuesday, and who seized the opportunity allowed by the latitude of debate on appropriation bills to repel the idea that the western states were the home of evil influences.

Mr. Hartman sent to the clerk's desk and had read the following extracts from Mr. Cleveland's address: "The toleration of evils and indifference to Christianizing and elevating agencies" in the new states of the west, which, "if unchecked, develops into badly regulated municipalities, corrupt and unsafe territories and undesirable states."

Several attempts were made to stop Mr. Hartman, but they failed, he being sustained by Hepburn (Iowa), who was in the chair. Mr. Hartman said:

Under the constitution I deny the right of the chief executive to willfully and wantonly, in public address or otherwise, insult any of the citizens or any state of the republic over whom he has been called to preside, or try to influence pending legislation. When the president made the foregoing remarks he knew there were pending in congress bills for the admission of certain territories into the union of states. He had been advised that a majority of the citizens of those territories were antagonistic to his peculiar financial and economic views, and under the cloak of a supposed religious address, before a religious organization and with gross impropriety and for the purposes of preventing the achievement of the rights of statehood to which they aspire and are entitled, he gave utterance, as chief executive, to this unfounded slander against those citizens and states of the republic whose interests he is sworn to protect and uphold.

The percentage of crime in those states and territories will not exceed that found in the state of New York, where the president seems to think all virtue resides. The per capita of wealth of the citizens of our state exceeds that of any state in the Union save one. Our educational facilities are equal to those of any section of the union, and if some of the patriotism of the people of the west had been possessed by the president and his friends the citizens of this republic would not have been called upon to witness the national humiliation of hauling down the American flag at Honolulu, of begging the bankers of Wall street and Great Britain to save us from financial ruin, and, under the behests of the powers behind the throne, of denying to the oppressed citizens of Cuba the recognition which the dictates of humanity and common sense demand. [Applause.]

It is true we do not get our patriotism from Wall street, where the president gets his. [Laughter.] It is true none of our citizens have possessed that particular style of patriotism which would enable them to save by thrift and strict economy five times as much as their entire income amounts to.

It is also true that the patriotism of these "corrupt and unsafe territories and undesirable states" has never yet been able to rise to that lofty plane of supreme wisdom and virtue; which enables those who claim to occupy it to justify the sale of 30-year government bonds of a year ago for 104 when that very day 10-year bonds were selling to 116. On behalf of the citizens of the states and territories thus slandered and maligned by the chief executive, I here and now repel the insult and respectfully suggest that the greatest need of this country for the work of the missionary, the schoolmaster and the statesman, will be found at the White House. [Laughter.]

EX-REBELS WON'T PARADE.

General Gordon Talks on Commander Walker's Recent Statement.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The decision published by General Walker, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, in reference to the proposed joint parade in New York on July 4 has been called to the attention of General Gordon, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, and he was asked if he proposed to take any action looking to a change of the date of the next annual meeting of the Confederates at Richmond June 30 and July 1 and 2. General Gordon replied:

"This date was finally decided upon in order to permit the Confederates who came from further south to go to New York immediately after the adjournment and take part in the joint parade, and I see no reason to change it. Of course it would now be entirely incompatible with our self-respect as ex-Confederates to take any part in the proposed joint parade. I do not wish, however, to discuss the action of General Walker. It has been my effort since the war to cultivate the most cordial relations between the soldiers of the two armies and between the people of the two sections. I have the cordial sympathy of my old comrades and a great body of the Union soldiers."

Commander Walker opposed the proposed parade of old soldiers of the blue and gray in New York July 4.

THE NEW SALVATION ARMY.

Ballington Booth Decides to Call It the Christian Crusade.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The Christian Crusade is the name suggested by Ballington Booth for the new Evangelical movement which the former commander of the Salvation Army has pledged himself to lead. The nucleus of the proposed "Crusade" is the little band of Long Islanders, the Sea Cliff corps who deserted in a body, following their officer, Captain Mimons, and on Tuesday sent a telegram to the Booths at Mt. Clair, announcing themselves as "an independent religious body" and inviting their former leaders to assume command.

Ballington Booth at once teleponed an acceptance. It is said that Ballington Booth will at once establish a paper in opposition to the famous War Cry.

CUBAN RESOLUTIONS

Of the House Quickly Adopted by the Conferrees.

NEARLY WENT THROUGH SENATE.

Action Finally Postponed Until Next Monday—Chandler Declared Himself In Favor of the United States Maintaining the Independence of Cuba.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The conferrees of the two houses on the Cuban resolutions, consisting of Senators Sherman, Morgan and Lodge on the part of the senate and of Messrs. Hitt, Adams and McCreary of the house, reached a conclusion more speedily and with less difficulty in their conference than had been anticipnted. The consultation was of about 40 minutes' duration and it became apparent immediately that the representatives of the senate would be satisfied with the house substitute. Senator Morgan was strongly in favor of a clause of the house resolution which contemplates intervention, a declaration which he had suggested should be made when the question was before the senate.

There was mention made of the possibilities of war with Spain as a result of the action by congress and the exclusive statement concerning the position of the administration in opposition to recognition made in these dispatches was also the subject of some talk. So far as the house is concerned, the Cuban revolution is a closed question for the present. There will be no more debate, because it is only necessary for the secretary of the senate to report to the house that the senate conferrees have agree to the house resolutions.

For a time it looked as though the Cuban question would be finally disposed of in the senate by immediately agreeing to the conference report accepting the house resolutions. At the conclusion of Mr. Mitchell's elaborate argument on the Dupont case, Mr. Sherman presented the report of the conferrees and asked for immediate action. Representatives Hitt and Adams, two of the house conferrees, were present at the time, as it was expected that the report would be adopted. But as it was then late not more than a dozen senators were in the chamber, and Mr. Hale of Maine suggested that it was undesirable to crowd through a resolution of this magnitute at a late hour and with an empty senate. This brought considerable sharp debate.

Mr. Chandler, who had not before been heard on Cuba, declared himself in favor not only of recognizing, but of maintaining the independence of Cuba, even if it resulted in war with Spain. Mr. Hawley expressed sympathy with the public feeling against Spain, yet he feared the earnestness and eagerness of the United States would involve us in war not only with Spain but other European countries. He depreciated the flippancy with which warlike utterances were made. Mr. Sherman concluded to let the subject go over until Monday, the senate having agreed to adjourn until then, and he gave notice that he would call up the report during the morning hour, lasting from 12 until 2.

HAVE SYMPATHY FOR SPAIN.

Suggestion of a European Combination Against the United States.

LONDON, March 6.—The Pall Mall Gazette's Paris special makes the statement that the Venzuelan and Brazilian disputes of England and France should be solved by the two European powers quickly, in order to give both a free hand to back up in the Cuban question.

The writer asserts that the British and French ambassadors at Madrid have both signified friendly feelings, but the joint action of the two countries must await the settlement of the Egyptian question.

Excellent authorities say there is absolutely no truth in the statement that the British government dare not back Spain because four Englishmen in five sympathize with the Cubans, though they say no doubt the latitude of speech in the senate has created a momentary sympathy with Spain.

ANOTHER CONSULATE ATTACKED.

The United States Flag Again Insulted In Spain at Valencia.

VALENCIA, March 6.—The disorders which were prevalent here when the news was first received of the action of the United States senate on the Cuban question have broken out afresh, and there were renewed demonstrations of hostility to the United States.

The mob made its way to the United States consulate, which was stoned and the windows of which were smashed by the infuriated populace.

Commission May Be Sent to Cuba.

In this connection it is announced that General Wesley Merritt, commander of the department of Missouri and several other high officers of the army, have been suddenly summoned to Washington.

Cleveland Against Recogtion.

MADRID, March 6.—According to a statement in El Dia, Senor Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish minister to Washington, has telegraphed to the government that President Cleveland will refuse, as long as he is president, either to recognize the rebels or intervene in the Cuban question.

Spanish Flag Burned In Leadville.

LEADVILLE, Colo., March 6.—There was most intense excitement in this city when the news was received of the burning of the American flag by the Spaniards. A Spanish flag was burned, while the crowd sang "America" and "Columbia."

PRINCETON, N. J., March 6.—The undergraduates of Princeton have burned in effigy the King of Spain. The flag of Spain was dragged through the main street and later was torn to pieces.

Clay Gould and wife went to Salineville today to attend the funeral of his brother, George R. Gould, which occurs at that place today. Deceased died from a complication of diseases on Tuesday, and was a veteran of the late war.

The Rover football team received a letter from the Youngstown club asking if they can come here on March 14. Arrangements are also being made to play the return date with the Cleveland team at that place in the latter part of the month.

While down south Colonel Watson met Tobe Blumenthal, the genial traveler formerly of the Standard. He is now located in the City of Mexico, and can speak the Spanish language with the fluency of a native. He laughed heartily when he learned that his obituary had been published in this city and assured the colonel that he was still a pretty lively corpse. Tobe is the picture of good health and sends his regards to all old friends.

The employes of the Union pottery make life miserable for one of the girls employed there. The other day this girl breathlessly rushed into the pottery and approaching one of the kilnhands, excitedly said: "Oh, Mr. ——, I've got something to tell you." "What is it?" asked the person addressed. "Oh, what do you think," replid the girl, "sister's baby's got a tooth." Since then she has been plagued almost beyond endurance, and if you want to make her real mad, just ask her if the baby has got another tooth.

Caution about the Use and Selections of Spectacles

"Persons having normal vision will be able to read this print at a distance of 14 inches from the eyes with ease and comfort; also will be able to read it with each eye separately. If unable to do so your eyes are defective and should have immediate attention. When the eyes become tired from reading or sewing, or if the letters look blurred and run together, it is a sure indication that glasses are needed. The lenses sold in the cheap goods are of unequal density and have imperfectly formed surfaces. Continued use of these poorer lenses will result in positive injury from the constant strain upon the muscles of accomodation to supply the defects in the glass."

TURN ON THE LIGHT.

something better.

A wicked man in a dying condition said to his friend: "Do you believe in heaven?" The answer came direct, "certainly I do." Then came the second pitiful plea: "Do you believe in a hell?" Again the answer, "certainly I do." Then came the poor sinner's awful accusation: "In the name of everything holy and sacred, why have you not been man enough to tell me so? You never talked to me about such matters; you never talked to me about my soul." This was the stone of indifference, and it was not rolled away by this professing Christian.

And you must avoid criticism of others. This class of criticism requires neither heart nor brain. Some critics have asserted that I walk around the platform like a wild animal. Another says that I make people tired by talking about the Bible. Another says that I make people laugh; that I use odd expressions and tell funny stories. Sometimes I go fishing, dear people, and I do not always use the same bait. Sometimes I use angle worms and sometimes use flies. Laugh, if you want to, God bless you. Lots of men are attracted to the meeting in some such measure, and the saving of souls results. One good lady objected to my walking up and down and to my gestures, telling me how Spurgeon stood. To please her, I tried to imitate Spurgeon, and held onto the table with both hands while I talked. The result was I lost my subject, lost myself and would have fainted away had I not broken loose and acted my natural self.

Don't criticise too closely. You may do great harm. Why, God bless you, I'm doing the very best I can. If any of you can do better, step right up and take my place.

And don't make excuses when called upon to do work for Jesus. You may think you can do nothing, but Jesus has work for each one of us. The poor old fellow who had nothing and thought he could do nothing at the public service, finally struck the idea when he said: "Oh, yes; I'll take my cane and keep the dogs away." You can sing for Jesus. If you can't do the hifalutin' work in this line, do what you can; if you can't reach G flat, try your hand at B nothing. What do you need to care if you can't reach the right pitch; pitch in, and it will be all right.

Don't stay at home on account of the babies; bring the little ones with you. God bless them; you start them both with a B—Bible, baby; baby, Bible. At one of my meetings I took the baby from its mother's arms and she fell down at the mercy seat and Jesus saved her. Bring the babies, even if you have to bring a bottle to feed them. What if the baby does cry. It don't cry for fun; it's either stuck with a pin or it's hungry; a baby gets hungry every 20 minutes.

Oh, the sin of unbelief. My mother met me at the green room door. I was surprised to see her there. She said to me: "You'll never die in this business, my son; you will yet preach the gospel." Shortly afterward I went to my home, lifted mother in my arms and said to her: "Mother, mother, I've found Jesus." Oh, how happy she was then. "I simply threw myself on God's mercy and He saved me, mother dear." Tears ran down the furrows in mother's face. Men, I had planted those furrows in my beloved mother's face; mother's eyes were sunken in her head; her hair was white; it was not the work of years; it was not on account of her age—it was caused by her son's wickedness, the waywardness of her boy. Men, God pity me. I killed my mother, and I'd lose both of these good arms at the shoulder if I could undo what I did. I didn't kill her with the stab of a knife, or with a pistol bullet—I killed her by inches, by my waywardness. Boys, don't kill your mother; they love you, lads, they love you well; don't kill them. I've had hell in my heart at times since I killed mother. I want to thank God for her prayers; for her wonderful faith in God's mercy and goodness; faith and prayers which kept me out of hell.

A minister of the gospel came to me about his three loved children—unsaved. He was in agony. I said to him: "Why don't you trust God—take him at his word; only believe his precious promises." He looked at me and seemed dazed, but said he would try. At an after meeting, a fine looking young man rose and asked for the prayers of God's people, that Jesus might forgive his sins. The minister turned to me his face working convulsively, with: "Brother Schiverea, that's my boy." Then a young girl rose and asked for prayers, and the amazed preacher said: "That's my youngest daughter." Back in the audience rose a fine-looking young lady, about 19 years of age. The minister grasped me by the arm, his face set and white, and he stammered forth: "Dear Lord, that's my other daughter," and he went to bed and was sick for a week. If he had had another child to be saved, it would have killed him—he was utterly astounded at God's goodness. Ask God for what you want. Ask in faith believing. If you ask aright your prayer will be answered.

You see, when the stone of unbelief was rolled away by the Christian father, God did his part at once.

Why cannot our dear Jewish brethren take Jesus as their Savior. Jesus was a Jew. He died for the Jews, just as he died for you and for me. I was preaching in Faneuil Hall, Boston, and telling the wonderful story of Jesus and his love, when Samuel Levi, a prominent Jew, came forward to the platform and cried out: "Yes, I'll believe now; your Jesus is my Jesus—your Savior my Savior." I met him one year afterward, and he was doing his best to convert the other members of his family. Roll away the stone and God will save East Liverpool.

There was a vile den down the Ohio, at Toronto. They told me it could not be closed. I told them that Jesus still lives. Praise God, when I bade that multitude of friends goodbye, the sign on that den of iniquity was, "Closed—closed forever." The Christian believers had rolled away the stone. God did the rest.

Some Christian women were singing "Rescue the Perishing." I met a drunkard, low down. I half carried, half pushed him into their presence and gave him a seat. Some of them gathered their skirts around them and said: "What will Schiverea bring in next?" I said to them, "that has a soul. It was somebody's darling at one time; some mother's boy." Lazarus was stinking. God brought him forth from the grave. He can save even the gutter drunkard. Let us roll away the stone. God bless you. Good night.

Reverend Taggart dismissed the audience with the benediction. Come early tonight if you want a seat. You will have a cordial welcome.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. There are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one, get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Doctor Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent care. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

You want a handsome spring suit, fitting you to perfection, best quality of goods and workmanship the very best, with prices reasonable. You will call for these requisites on Fred Laufenberger, Market street.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "And have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflic ed. It is for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

CLARA BARTON PLEASED.

She Writes Concerning the Porte's Permission to Distribute Relief.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A letter just received by a member of the American National Red Cross society from Miss Clara Barton, dated Para, Constantinople, tells of the journey of the Red Cross party which sailed from here on Jan. 22, and also contains the following:

"The cablegram sent by Minister Terrell to Secretary Olney, and which I trust was made public, was the outcome of a call upon the sublime porte in the person of its minister of foreign affairs which was in every way as agreeable, cordial and satisfactory as it could have been made in any country. Not only was the fullest permission given for our entrance into Armenia, but an active and generous effort was displayed toward making our endeavors, our journeys, etc., safe, pleasant and as easy as possible, and also as productive of beneficial results as could be wished for. Mr. Terrell was very much gratified and seems very happy over our success, to which the state department and he contributed so largely.

"As soon as an outfit can be made and passage secured our men will start for the desolated regions. It will be cold and terribly hard for them, but that is what they came for. I have met several of the leading missionaries and other gentlemen here. It is hoped that the massacres are over, but it is of course uncertain. The general feeling is that Russia has said 'enough.' The distress and suffering through want and sickness are described as being enormous and terrible."

A NEGRO CONFERENCE.

Colored People of the South Gathered Together at Tuskogee, Ala.

TUSKOGEE, Ala., March 6.—The annual Tuskogee negro conference, under the auspices of the Tuskogee Negro Industrial and Normal school, now in session, is, in many respects, the most notable gathering of representatives of the colored race that has ever assembled in America.

Representative men of the race have come from sections of Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and other states to exchange views as to their present industrial, educational and religious condition, and to endeavor to devise a remedy for the evils now barring the progress of the race. Nearly 800 colored people listened to the opening address of Prof. B. T. Washington.

Fatally Shot by a Detective.

WEEHAWKEN, N. J., March 6.—William Watson, superintendent of the Hudson river division of the West Shore railroad, was shot in his private office at the West Shore passenger depot, Weehawken, yesterday, by Detective Edward Clifford of the Weehawken police and formerly an employe of the railroad. Clifford fired two shots, both of which took effect. Clifford, it is said, shot his former employer because he lost his position.

Hawaiians Consider It an Insult.

SAN FRANCISCO, March. 6.—The steamship Australia has arrived bringing the following advices from Honolulu: "On the morning of the 19th., previous to the opening of the legislature, the U. S. S. Bennington left port for target practice. She returned to port two days later. Her officers were invited to be present at the ceremony. Their non-acceptance is looked upon here as another insult to the Hawaiian government.

Mrs. Nansen Don't Believe It.

BERLIN, March 6.—The Local Anzeiger publishes an interview with Dr. Nansen's wife in which she says that she does not believe the reports recently received that her husband is returning from the North Pole. She is confident that her husband will succeed in his purpose to reach the North Pole, but she thinks it is too early yet to expect news.

Won't Propose a Monetary Conference.

LONDON, March 6.—The first lord of the treasury, Mr. A. J. Balfour, answering a question in the house of commons on behalf of the government, said he did not believe that anything would be gained by Great Britain taking the initiative in proposing a monetary conference.

To Match Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The articles of agreement for the proposed fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons before the National Sporting club of London have been received by Richard K. Fox. Mr. Fox is authorized to sign the men, receive deposits and arrange all details.

Meade's Warning to England.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Admiral Richard W. Meade, in a lecture on "The Carribbean Sea," said that in case of trouble between the United States and Great Britain over Venezuela the first shot fired in anger will sound the death knell of the British empire.

CRISPI'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

Rioting Still Continues In Italy—Defeat Not So Great In Abysinnia.

ROME, March 6.—The resignations of Premier Crispi and the cabinet, over the dissatisfaction among the people caused by the defeat of the Italian army in Abyssinia, have been accepted by King Humbert.

This sudden action prevented a proposed impeachment and other radical action in the chamber of deputies.

As a result of the indignation over the African campaign and the resulting fiasco is menacing in the extreme and an uprising of the people is threatened at Naples.

Among those who will probably be entrusted with the formation of a new cabinet the names of the Marquis di Rudini, Signor Saracco, General Ricotti and Beinn, an ex-minister, are mentioned.

There seems to be no cessation and no amelioration of the agitation and disorders among the people throughout Italy, notwithstanding the less disastrous character of later reports of the battle of Adowa. The agitation in this city is as threatening as ever. Almost everywhere excited crowds are parading the streets, and the police have had great difficulty in dispersing them, many conflicts occurring, followed by arrests.

Later advices received here from Massowah show that, although the rout of the Italians was complete, the extent of the disaster is somewhat less than rumor has made it. This is said to be owing to the fact that the Shoans did not pursue the Italians to Asmara, as was at first reported, and parties of stragglers who were believed to have perished are now arriving there. This has caused a renewal of the complaints against the government for not giving the official estimate of the number of killed and wounded, which, however, is still believed to be over 5,000.

BLACKBURN TO THE END.

Silver Democrats Will Support Him. The Republican Nominee.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 6.—The Republican joint caucus has nominated the Hon. St. John Boyle of Louisville for United States senator by acclamation.

A joint caucus was held by the Democrats to hear the petition of the sound money Democrats for the withdrawal of Senator Blackburn. Twenty-nine sound money Democrats, including the 20 signers to the petition, were absent. Senator Blackburn was present. He said he was the caucus nominee and only the caucus could remove him. The caucus adopted stirring resolutions in support of Blackburn and adjourned determined to support him to the end.

Republican Congresional Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The members of the Republican congressional campaign committee have selected the officers who will have control of the organization in this congress. Mr. Babcock was re-elected chairman, Mr. Apsley of Massachusetts, vice chairman, Mr. William B. Thompson of Michigan, treasurer.
